

Date:
Student Name:
1. What is the first animal seen when walking into zoo?
2. Who is armor-plated, which means that parts of their bodies are covered in bony plates or scales, overlaid with horn?
3. Whose hair is permanently greased with an oily, water-repellent secretion?
4. Whose wool fiber comes in more than 22 natural colors?
5. Who has a protective nature of other animals, they are used as guard animals for sheep, goats, and horses?
6. Who is also known as the yellow armadillo?
7. Who likes to stand on one leg?
8. When descending a tree head-first, who rotates its ankle to control its descent?
9. Each _____ family has their own yipping sound that only members of their own family will respond to?
10. Who communicate through a combination of scent and sound?

11. Who is are excellent swimmers, using water as a means of escaping predators?
12. Who has a unique pattern of spots, like a fingerprint?
13. Whose range of vision is about 300 degrees wide?
14. Who has large, flat heads are covered with "warts," which are actually protective bumps?
15. Who has a long nose is a bone tube formed by the fusion of the upper and lower jaw?
16. Who walks on the cold ground, its paws enlarge and become more padded, acting as snowshoes that support the cat's weight in the snow?
17. While hunting, the _____ will pause for up to 15 minutes at a time to listen with eyes closed?
18. Who has powerful claws to rip open anthills and termite mounds?
19. Defense is a priority, when one _____ is threatened the others will rush to its defense?
20. Who has a different alarm calls specify the location of danger and the type of predator?
21. The name "_____" means "mutilated one" in Greek, because unlike other monkeys, they do not have thumbs?
22. Who has cheek pouches in which to carry food?

23. Who is also known as the Cape Griffon?
24. Who is the only species of crane that can roost in trees due to their prehensile hind toe?
25. Who produces a milk called crop milk for their young?
26. What is a group of kangaroos called?
27. Who gets their moniker from its manic laughter-like call?
28. What flightless bird can run up to 40mph?
29. Who is considered the most beautiful of all parrot species?
30. Each _____ has a unique scent, allowing them to recognize each other?